MINISTERIAL STATEMENTS

Mr. Livingston, Cabinet commissioner on the Development Assessment Process

- Development Assessment Process: status report

Point of Order

Mr. Phillips, Member for Riverdale North, rose on a Point of Order just after Mr. Livingston, the Cabinet commissioner on the Development Assessment Process, started giving his statement. The Member for Riverdale North stated that in his view there was no longer a Cabinet Commission on the Development Assessment Process and therefore the Member for Lake Laberge was no longer a Cabinet commissioner and could not, according to the Standing Orders, make a statement under Ministerial Statements.

Deputy Speaker's Ruling

"The Chair would like to thank the Official Opposition House Leader for having provided notice of the Point of Order. Standing Order 11(4) refers to Members who have 'been designated as Cabinet commissioners'.

There is no established procedure for indicating whether a Cabinet commissioner is no longer designated as such. The Chair has not been informed in any official way that the Member for Lake Laberge is no longer a Cabinet commissioner. The Cabinet commissioner on the Development Assessment Process may, therefore, continue with his statement."

YUKON LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY

29th Legislative Assembly

First Session

Wednesday, March 10, 1999

The Speaker took the Chair at 1:30 p.m.

SPEAKER'S RULING ON QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE

"The Chair will provide a ruling on the Question of Privilege raised on March 8, 1999 by the Government House Leader.

Standing Order 7(4) states that the Speaker must rule on (a) whether there appears, on the face of it, to be a case of breach of privilege, and (b) whether the matter has been raised at the earliest opportunity.

The normal practice of this House has been that, to meet the 'earliest opportunity' requirement, a Question of Privilege must be raised at the time the event occurred or on the next sitting day. In this matter, the event took place on Wednesday, March 3, 1999. The Government House Leader provided a communication to the Speaker's Office on Thursday, March 4, 1999, indicating that he was considering raising the 'exchange which took place between the Member for Riverdale North and the Chair of the Committee of the Whole' as a Question of Privilege. He wrote, however, that he wished to delay doing so for one sitting day in order for him to 'provide a clear and proper description of the question.'

On Monday, March 8, 1999, the Government House Leader, pursuant to Standing Order 7(1)(b), gave a written notice containing a brief statement of the question to the Speaker two hours before the opening of the sitting. This process, by which there is a delay in presenting a Question of Privilege, is unusual in this House. The Chair will accept it on this occasion and may allow it again at some future point. However, Members should be aware that the Chair's determination will depend on the circumstances of the moment and the importance to the House of the issue being raised. To be clear on this point, the Chair will not guarantee that a delay will always be granted.

Since, in this case, the 'earliest opportunity' requirement is being found to be satisfied, the question for the Chair to decide on is whether the Government House Leader has raised a question which, on the face of it, is a possible breach of privilege.

The Chair has reviewed the Hansard and has also taken the opportunity to listen to the Hansard tapes of the event in question.

From those, the Chair's understanding of what happened is as follows:

- (1) The Leader of the Opposition had been recognized by the Chair and was speaking.
- (2) During his speech, a Member, identified as the Member for Lake Laberge by the Leader of the Official Opposition, made a number of comments from his seat. Since the Member for Lake Laberge did not have the floor, these comments are shown in Hansard as 'Some Hon. Member: (inaudible)'.
- (3) The Leader of the Official Opposition, following several of these comments, identified the Member for Lake Laberge and made personal statements about that Member.
- (4) The Chair called for order and stated: 'I would ask Members to refrain from making personal remarks and concentrate on the budget.'
- (5) The Member for Riverdale North rose on a Point of Order, was recognized, and began to speak. The Member for Lake Laberge rose during the Point of Order being spoken to by the Member for Riverdale North and was recognized by the Chair on a Point of Order. Before the Member for Lake Laberge could speak, the Member for Klondike rose on a Point of Order and was recognized by the Chair. The Member for Klondike, the Member for Lake Laberge and the Member for Riverdale North spoke in turn.
- (6) When he had the floor, the Member for Riverdale North said to the Chair, in part, '[W]hat I was criticizing is you criticized the opposition leader for what he said . . . but you didn't say anything about the . . . hooting and hollering . . . of the Member opposite.'
- (7) The Chair responded by saying, in part: 'The Chair did not criticize anyone. The Chair is trying to maintain order. It does not appreciate being accused of criticizing anyone in this House.'
- (8) The Leader of the Official Opposition was given the floor and began to speak when the Member for Riverdale North rose on a Point of Order and stated: 'Mr. Chair, I want you to apologize to me for just cat-calling at me, as the Chair of Committee of the Whole, or else get out of the Chair and sit in the back, where everyone else is.'
- (9) The Government House Leader was then recognized and stated: 'I would ask that Members in this House respect that its not appropriate to be addressing the Chair in such a manner. Everybody should just relax, including me, and let's just get on with this debate.'
- (10) The Chair did not provide a ruling on the Point of Order raised by the Member for Riverdale North. The Chair then recognized the Leader of the Official Opposition who began speaking.
- (11) While the Leader of the Official Opposition was speaking, the Member for Riverdale North called out 'Point of Order, Mr. Chair.'
- (12) The Hansard tape indicates that the Chair had not recognized the Member for Riverdale North but, while the Chair was calling for order, it is clear that the Member for Riverdale North said that the Chair had directed a vile obscenity at him.

- (13) The Chair did not respond to the accusation made by the Member for Riverdale North and, according to the notation in Hansard, then vacated the Chair.
- (14) The Deputy Chair then took the Chair and the Committee of the Whole continued with the business before it.

Those are the events being referred to. The question to be addressed is whether they lead to a conclusion that, on the face of it, there was a breach of privilege.

The Government House Leader, in his statement of the Question of Privilege, did not identify any specific privilege which might have been violated. Instead, he said '[C]ontinued abuse or disrespectful conduct and spurious accusations by any Member disrupts House business, brings the entire Legislature into disrepute, and cannot go uncorrected. It indicates a serious lack of respect for the rules and decorum of this House and the people chosen to sit in neutral positions in the performance of public duties.' Later on, the Government House Leader asked the Speaker to review the Hansard and the Hansard tapes and to rule whether, in reference to the Member for Riverdale North, 'his comments and his behaviour violated the Chair's authority and responsibilities, as contained in the Standing Orders of the Yukon Legislative Assembly and Beauchesne's Parliamentary Rules and Forms.' The Government House Leader concluded that such a ruling would 'clarify whether a motion of censure should be brought forward against the Member for Riverdale North.'

One of the standards by which the Chair determines whether there is, on the face of it, a Question of Privilege, is whether the matter in question can or could be properly dealt with under the practice or the Standing Orders of the House. Parliamentary authorities indicate that, when a matter is covered by the practice or rules of the House, it is very unlikely to involve a breach of the privileges of Members.

A review of the incident in question shows the following:

- (1) The question of whether the Member for Lake Laberge was unduly interfering with the Leader of the Official Opposition when the Leader of the Official Opposition had the floor could have been dealt with either by the Chair calling the Member to order or by another Member raising the interference as a Point of Order.
- (2) The comments by the Leader of the Official Opposition about the Member for Lake Laberge could have been and were dealt with by the Chair calling for order and advising Members not to indulge in personal attacks.
- (3) That ruling, under Standing Order 42(4), could have been appealed to the Speaker. Otherwise, under the same Standing Order, a challenge to the Chair is out of order because it states 'No debate shall be permitted on any decision of the Chair.'
- (4) Points of Order were subsequently raised by a number of Members. The Chair would note that the practice of the Assembly is that, when one Member is raising a Point of Order, that Member may not be interrupted by another Member on a Point of Order. The House or Committee must deal with the Point of Order being raised before proceeding on to another Point of Order.
- (5) The Member for Riverdale North made the accusation that the Chair expressed a vile obscenity to him. This was done without that Member having been recognized by the Chair and, therefore, does not appear in Hansard. However, it can be heard quite clearly on the Hansard tapes. This could have been dealt with by the rules in two ways. First, the Member could have been called to order under Standing Order 19(1)(j) which states: 'A Member will be called to order by the Speaker if that Member uses abusive or insulting language of a nature likely to create disorder.' A second solution, if the Chair of Committee or the Committee itself so desired, would have been to report the matter to the Assembly. This is authorized by Standing Order 42(4) which states, in part, 'Disorder in Committee of the Whole can be censured only by the Assembly, on receiving a report thereon.' The Member for Riverdale North also has a solution under the rules, if he wishes to express a serious grievance about an impropriety of the Chair, and that is to do as he has already done - bring forward a substantive motion censuring the Chair.

- (6) As has been noted, Hansard indicates that the Chair of Committee of the Whole vacated the Chair. There are no precedents of this House or, so far as can be determined, of the House of Commons, for this action. However, there were options available under the rules including reporting to the Assembly under Standing Order 42(4). There are also precedents of this House whereby the Chair has, of its own accord, declared a brief recess.
- (7) The Standing Orders also provide a remedy if it is reported to the Speaker that a Member is being disorderly. Standing Order 23 states that, if a Member persists in offending a Standing Order, the Member may be named by the Speaker and suspended from that day's sitting or a longer period if so decided by the House.

It is clear, then, that the events of March 3, 1999 are ones that could and should have been dealt with under the rules and practices of the House. They do not fall within the category of a breach of privilege.

On a final point, it should be understood that the Speaker's ruling in matters such as these is whether, on the face of it, there is a Question of Privilege. If the Speaker decides there is not, on the face of it, a Question of Privilege, the result is that a motion to deal with the matter will not be given priority of debate.

However, the House itself may decide, through a substantive motion moved in the normal way, that something is a matter of privilege. That is the House's choice.

Also, a decision by the Speaker that a matter is not, on the face of it, a Question of Privilege does not stop Members from bringing forward motions of censure against each other if that is their desire. Members themselves must make decisions about whether such motions are necessary to assist in furthering the interests of the House, including its order and decorum."

GOVERNMENT PRIVATE MEMBERS' BUSINESS
MOTIONS OTHER THAN GOVERNMENT MOTIONS

Moved by Mr. Hardy:

THAT it is the opinion of this House that:

- (1) the Federal Government's intention to take control of the $30 billion surplus in the Public Service Superannuation Plan abuses the rights of public service employees;

- (2) the Federal Government's intention to require employers such as the Territorial Government to assume a much greater percentage of pension costs (while also increasing the employees' contribution) could cost Yukon taxpayers more than $11 million per year and result in service reductions and staff lay-offs;
- (3) the Federal Government's decision not to institute a Joint Management Board to oversee the pension fund and its surplus, but to institute an Investment Board without labour representation, is a gross breach of trust and a serious attack on the rights and well-being of public servants; and

THAT this House calls for the Federal Government to cease all plans to implement its proposed changes to the Public Service Superannuation Plan. (Motion #157)

A debate arising on the motion, it was moved by Ms. Duncan, Leader of the Third Party, in amendment thereto:

THAT Motion #157 be amended by adding after the expression "THAT this House calls for the Federal Government to" the following:

"return to negotiations with unions and pensioners to resolve outstanding issues and in the interim"

A debate arising on the amendment and the question being put, it was agreed to.

SPEAKER'S RULING (re unparliamentary language)

"Before proceeding to Orders of the Day, the Chair will provide a ruling on a Point of Order raised on March 3, 1999 by the Leader of the Third Party.

The Point of Order was raised when the Member for Watson Lake, during debate on Motion #153, said, of the Liberal caucus:

'Then, their approach for improving tourism marketing in this territory is to assassinate officials on the floor of this Legislature - attack the department officials, assassinate them.'

The Leader of the Third Party, in raising the Point of Order, said that she felt this violated Standing Order 19(1)(h) which states that 'A Member will be called to order by the Speaker if that Member imputes false or unavowed motives to another Member.'

The Government House Leader argued that there was no Point of Order because the expression 'character assassination' had been used on other occasions in this House and had not been ruled out of order.

The opinions of the Leader of the Third Party and of the Government House Leader are not quite on point. The Member for Watson Lake was not imputing motives. He did not say that the Liberal caucus, through their actions, intended to assassinate officials. Rather, he said that they did assassinate officials. Also, he did not use the expression 'character assassination' which has, on occasion, been overlooked in debate in this House. Rather, he used the word 'assassinate'.

Members have heard many rulings on parliamentary language so the Chair will not repeat what is stated in the Standing Orders and parliamentary authorities at this time. If Members are interested, they may wish to review those rulings including, in particular, the Speaker's ruling of December 2, 1998 and the ruling of the Chair of the Committee of the Whole given on December 9, 1998.

In addition to the rules and authorities referred to in those rulings, the Chair wishes to draw the attention of the House to the First Report of the Standing Committee on Rules, Elections and Privileges. It was presented to the House on March 26, 1997 and concurred in by motion of the House on the same day.

In that report, under the title 'Language in the Legislative Assembly', it was stated:

'Although the Committee expressed strong support for the use of inclusive, non-sexist and non-violent language it decided against recommending any changes to the rules of the House in that respect. Rather than making the presiding officers of the House responsible for enforcing rules of debate beyond those which now exist, the Committee suggests that the onus should be placed on each Member to strive to use inclusive, non-sexist and non-violent language at all times.'

Based on the rulings, Standing Orders and parliamentary authorities, the Chair would suggest that, in the future, if the word 'assassinate' is used in the same fashion as it was by the Member for Watson Lake, it will likely be found to be unparliamentary.

Members should also recognize that they have accepted responsibility to avoid such language through the adoption of the Standing Committee report that stated that Members should strive to use 'non-violent language at all times'.

The Chair is certain that Members, from now on, will wish to pay greater attention to the use of non-violent language and, in advance, thanks Members for their co-operation."

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

According to Order, the Assembly resolved into Committee of the Whole.

Chairs ruling (re unparliamentary language)

"A Point of Order was raised earlier today by the Member for Lake Laberge respecting the use of the term 'juggle the books or skew the numbers' by the Member for Klondike. The Chair has reviewed the matter. During a review of the Blues for this afternoon, it was also noted that the expressions 'twist and weasel around' and 'twist the facts' were used by other Members. The Chair does not wish to encourage Members to use language such as this but, with it being so common, it would become intrusive to step in and call it to order on every occasion. Perhaps the best solution would be to request that Members respect the ruling given by the Speaker earlier today and to exercise some self-discipline in restraining themselves from using expressions that may be found insulting by other Members."

Progress was reported on the following Bill:

Bill #14 - First Appropriation Act, 1999-2000

MOTIONS OTHER THAN GOVERNMENT MOTIONS

Moved by Mr. Ostashek:

THAT it is the opinion of this House that there is an urgent need to review the electoral boundaries in the Yukon due to:

- (1) significant population changes in electoral districts such as Whitehorse West and Faro,
- (2) several electoral districts in the Yukon no longer meeting the population requirements ensuring voter parity and, thereby, leaving the territory open to legal challenges to elections held in those electoral districts, and
- (3) electoral district boundaries in the Yukon not having been reviewed since 1991 when the practice in many other Canadian jurisdictions is to conduct such a review after every second general election;

and

THAT this House urges the Government to introduce legislation during the 1999 spring sitting establishing an electoral district boundaries commission.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

According to Order, the Assembly resolved into Committee of the Whole.

Chair's Statement (re unparliamentary language)

"On reviewing the Blues for last evening, it is clear that certain comments made by the Minister of Community and Transportation Services were personal and insulting. At the time, the Chair did ask Members not to make personal and insulting remarks and to address their remarks through the Chair. Neither the Member for Riverdale North, who rose on a Point of Order, nor the Chair identified any specific remarks as being unparliamentary. Nor did the Chair rule that any specific remarks should be withdrawn. It should also be noted that it has not been the practice of Speakers of the Assembly or Chairs of Committee of the Whole to insist that all remarks found to be objectionable be withdrawn. In the past, however, Members who have made remarks that have caused disorder have often voluntarily withdrawn those remarks. This assists the House in getting debate back on a civil note and allowing it to continue in an orderly fashion.

Members on both sides have made remarks lately that the Chair finds abusive and insulting. The Chair would ask all Members not to make disparaging remarks about other Members. It has been my practice not to interrupt Members while they are speaking to ask them to keep their remarks parliamentary. In future, it will be my intention to intervene more quickly when remarks are made that are likely to create disorder."

Progress was reported on the following Bill:

Bill #14 - First Appropriation Act, 1999-2000
-Hon. Mr. McDonald

The report of the Chair was adopted.
